GreenXT provides logistics and engineering support to U. S. Navy
GreenXT receives new tasking to support the Naval Surface Warfare Center, Philadelphia

Philadelphia, PA December 15, 2017: Green Expert Technology (GreenXT) has received tasking to provide support to the Shipboard HAZMAT Control and Management (HMC&M) Program to include review and revision of the Naval Ships' Technical Manual (NSTM 670) and the NAVSEA Design Practices and Criteria Manual for Shipboard Hazardous Material Stowage. In addition, GreenXT will provide support to Hazardous Material Minimization Center (HAZMINCEN) installations by reviewing SHIPALTs, performing ship checks, and risk assessments.

This work is being performed by GreenXT personnel in Philadelphia, PA, Haddonfield, NJ and San Diego, CA. Brian Trees, Chief Strategy Officer states, "Our team of engineers, program analysts, logisticians, and HAZMAT Subject Matter Experts (SME) are excited for this opportunity to support the Navy."
